

Have you always wanted to learn more traditional Swiss dishes? Or maybe just expand your culinary pallet and spruce up your skills? These sessions are another great way to have some fun while preparing and sitting down to enjoy a traditional Swiss dish together.

So here's what makes our cooking sessions together a great success:

Cooks: If you have some great Swiss Recipes and a burning desire to keep our culinary culture alive, then we are eager to learn through your guidance. We are not chefs and there is no perception of being an expert. Just come out to have some fun and pass along these great recipes with wonderful people.

Participants: Do you love the idea of keeping our Swiss culinary culture alive in our kitchens? Would you like to learn some new recipes? Each participant contributes in the preparing, cooking, clean up, and the enjoying of good food. Every aspect of this is part of the charm, the time well spent together, and the learning experience.

Location: We meet at a community kitchen free of charge at 924 – 14 Avenue SW. As space is limited, we can only limit our participation to a maximum of 15 people so please let us know early if you're interested in joining us. We always like to see new faces and will rotate fair participation. If you wish to be on the contact list for our up and coming Swiss Cuisine Sessions, please let us know.

Date: Held Annually in October, usually two weeks after Thanksgiving. If you are interested in being a part of one of our Swiss Cuisine dates, please contact our coordinator to be put on the contact list.

Cost: Each session's food expenses are shared equally and the cost is usually around $15 per person per session. A little more with a glass of wine or two.

The most important thing about being a part of a Swiss Cuisine Evening is having fun, learning something new, and eating what you made at the end!
